LAST DARING AUSTRIAN NAZI EFFORT FAILS

Marshal Lyautey, the Father of Morocco, who died yesterday. He was 70 years of age.

TRAGEDY OF A LETTER

PLEW SUICIDE REVELATION

WENT ASTRAY

A wrong address left by the late Mr. W. L. Plew when he was discharged from the Matilda Hospital on July 16, led to an important letter going astray, receipt of which almost certainly would have prevented his untimely death.

Plew threw himself from the top of the Gloucester Building on July 19 and was instantly killed.

Now it is revealed that only a short time after Plew left the hospital a letter arrived for him from a local foreign bank.

This was a long expected reply to Plew's application to his father, a mill owner in Scotland, for assistance, the non-receipt of which had caused him considerable anxiety.

"NOT KNOWN"

Plew had left with the hospital an address at Morrison Hill Road to which the letter was sent on, but when proffered it was revealed that he had not been there. The letter who accordingly sent to the G.P.O. who returned it to the Bank with the inscription "Not Known."

Meanwhile Plew was in financial difficulties, unaware that the bank had an order from his father to guarantee him a monthly income.

Had he received this news there is little doubt but that the tragedy of his death would have been averted.

IRREPRESSIBLE JAPAN

TRADE BAROMETER STILL GOING UP

Tokyo, July 28.

Despite the obstructive measures adopted abroad, Japan's foreign trade, as revealed by the latest statistics, has been showing a steady upward development since the New Year.

This has been due largely to a change from the policy of catering for the principal markets to a policy of developing markets everywhere, notably in Central South America, Africa and Egypt.

It is noteworthy that the export of cotton textile created a new record.—Reuter.

A European lad, H. Christian, living with his parents at 3 Kimberley Villas, was bitten yesterday by a dog owned by Mr. D'Almada Remedios. The boy has been given precautionary treatment. The dog has been removed to the depot at Matakook.

Tenders are being invited for the provision of seven cast-iron postal pillar-boxes.

SCORES OF ARRESTS

(SPECIAL TO "TELEGRAPH")

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, July 28, 8.51 a.m.)

VIENNA, JULY 28.

BREAKDOWN OF A LAST DARING DESPERATE EFFORT TO WREST SUCCESS FROM ABJECT FAILURE HAS FINALLY SPELLED THE DOOM OF THE NAZI REVOLT IN AUSTRIA.

The plan was well-conceived, because the element of complete surprise must have been present, but police spies got wind of the new plot and it was nipped in the bud, scores of fresh arrests being made in Vienna yesterday afternoon.

Briefly, the newly projected Nazi putsch had precisely the same objective, a swift descent upon the Chancellery, the arrest of the Cabinet, with Prince von Starheimberg as the main prisoner, and another desperate effort to secure control of the Government.

Heimwehr circles disclose that over a hundred Nazis, dressed in Heimwehr uniforms, entered the inner district of Vienna yesterday morning, and were planning a raid on the Chancellery in the afternoon. As soon as the secret was out, the guards at the Chancellery were greatly increased and a combing-out of Nazi suspects began, the movement collapsing.—United Press.

SEVEN HUNDRED SURRENDER

Back of Nazi Revolt Broken

Vienna, July 28.

The fighting in Styria has been brought to an end with an encounter at Eibeswald where seven hundred Nazis were rounded up and surrendered.

Only isolated bands remain and most of them are fleeing into the mountainous borders of Styria and Carinthia with the Federal troops in pursuit.

This reassuring news followed unofficial reports that the fighting in Carinthia was growing more serious, and it is officially admitted that some resistance is still being offered in the province bordering Italy.

CARINTHIA GRIP.

St. Veitenderglan, Feldkirchen and Bleiburg remain in the hands of the rebels, who are also entrenched at Moellbrücken, where they have established their headquarters.

The rebels also hold a great part of the Taurern Railway.

Villach has been occupied by the regular army.

The South Carinthian Railway is only running as far as Annenheim, the other section being in the hands of the Nazi rebels.

GOVERNMENT RECRUITS.

The Government is now levying on available nonactive members of the various patriotic organisations to strengthen the Government forces. Many men have voluntarily joined the Heimwehr, supplying their own uniforms.

All frontiers are being kept open and most of the railway services are now functioning normally, beyond those in Carinthia.—Reuter.

Zagreb, July 27.

Scores of Austrian Nazis are fleeing from the country and seeking refuge over the border.

Most of them are fugitives from the fighting in Styria, many having crossed into Hungary, the majority into Yugoslavia.

Numerous dejected and disillusioned Nazis have arrived here, after swimming the frontier line between Austria and Yugoslavia, clad in their full uniforms.

BITTER COMPLAINTS.

They complain bitterly of the bad organisation of the putsch, which they say was originally intended to develop into a general uprising throughout the country. They complain that twenty-four hours after it was suppressed in Vienna, they still thought it was going well and fought futilely because of the lack of information.—Reuter Special.

ment forces encountered resistance to-day from bands of Nazis in Styria and Carinthia, the authorities declare that this merely represents the cleaning-up process and that the back of the revolt has been broken.

Although many rumours are emanating from Vienna and other news centres, conditions through practically all of Austria are apparently again normal.—British Wireless.

FUNERAL OF DR DOLLFUSS

THOUSANDS FILE PAST BODY

(Special to "Telegraph")

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received July 28, 8.50 a.m.)

Vienna, July 27.

Over fifteen thousand people filed past the coffin of the late Chancellor, Dr. Dollfuss, within the first hour of the opening of the City Hall, where the body is lying in state.

The body is covered with a black and white silk shroud surrounded by masses of wreaths and flowers.

Photographs of Dr. Dollfuss lying dead and others of his widow and two children are being sold in the shops.—Reuter Special.

The funeral of Dr. Dollfuss will take place to-morrow afternoon.

The ceremony will begin at 2.30 p.m. in front of the City Hall (Rathaus). The speeches and the procession are expected to last until five o'clock when Archbishop Innitzer will conduct the final service at St. Stephen's Cathedral.—Reuter.

FIGHT FOR POWER BEHIND SCENES

Four Candidates For Chancellorship

Vienna, July 28.

A fierce fight for power is reported to be proceeding behind the scenes for the vacant Chancellorship.

Prince von Starheimberg is the present acting incumbent, by virtue of his position as Vice-Chancellor. But Dr. Schuschnigg, who took over temporary control, is also a strong candidate.

There are four prominent leaders in the picture and President Miklas has an unenviable task.

The four are:
Prince von Starheimberg, chief of the Heimwehr, an ardent anti-Nazi Fascist.

Dr. Schuschnigg, who is the leader of the peasants.
General Karl Vaugoin, former "strong man" and Minister for War.

Dr. Richard Schmitz, the Burgomaster of Vienna.

Prince von Starheimberg is powerfully placed with the backing of the Heimwehr. He is an ardent admirer of Signor Mussolini and is demanding that Austria be made a full-blooded Fascist State on the Italian model.—Reuter.

Von STARHEMBERG BROADCASTS

Ready To Forget
The Past

Vienna, July 28.

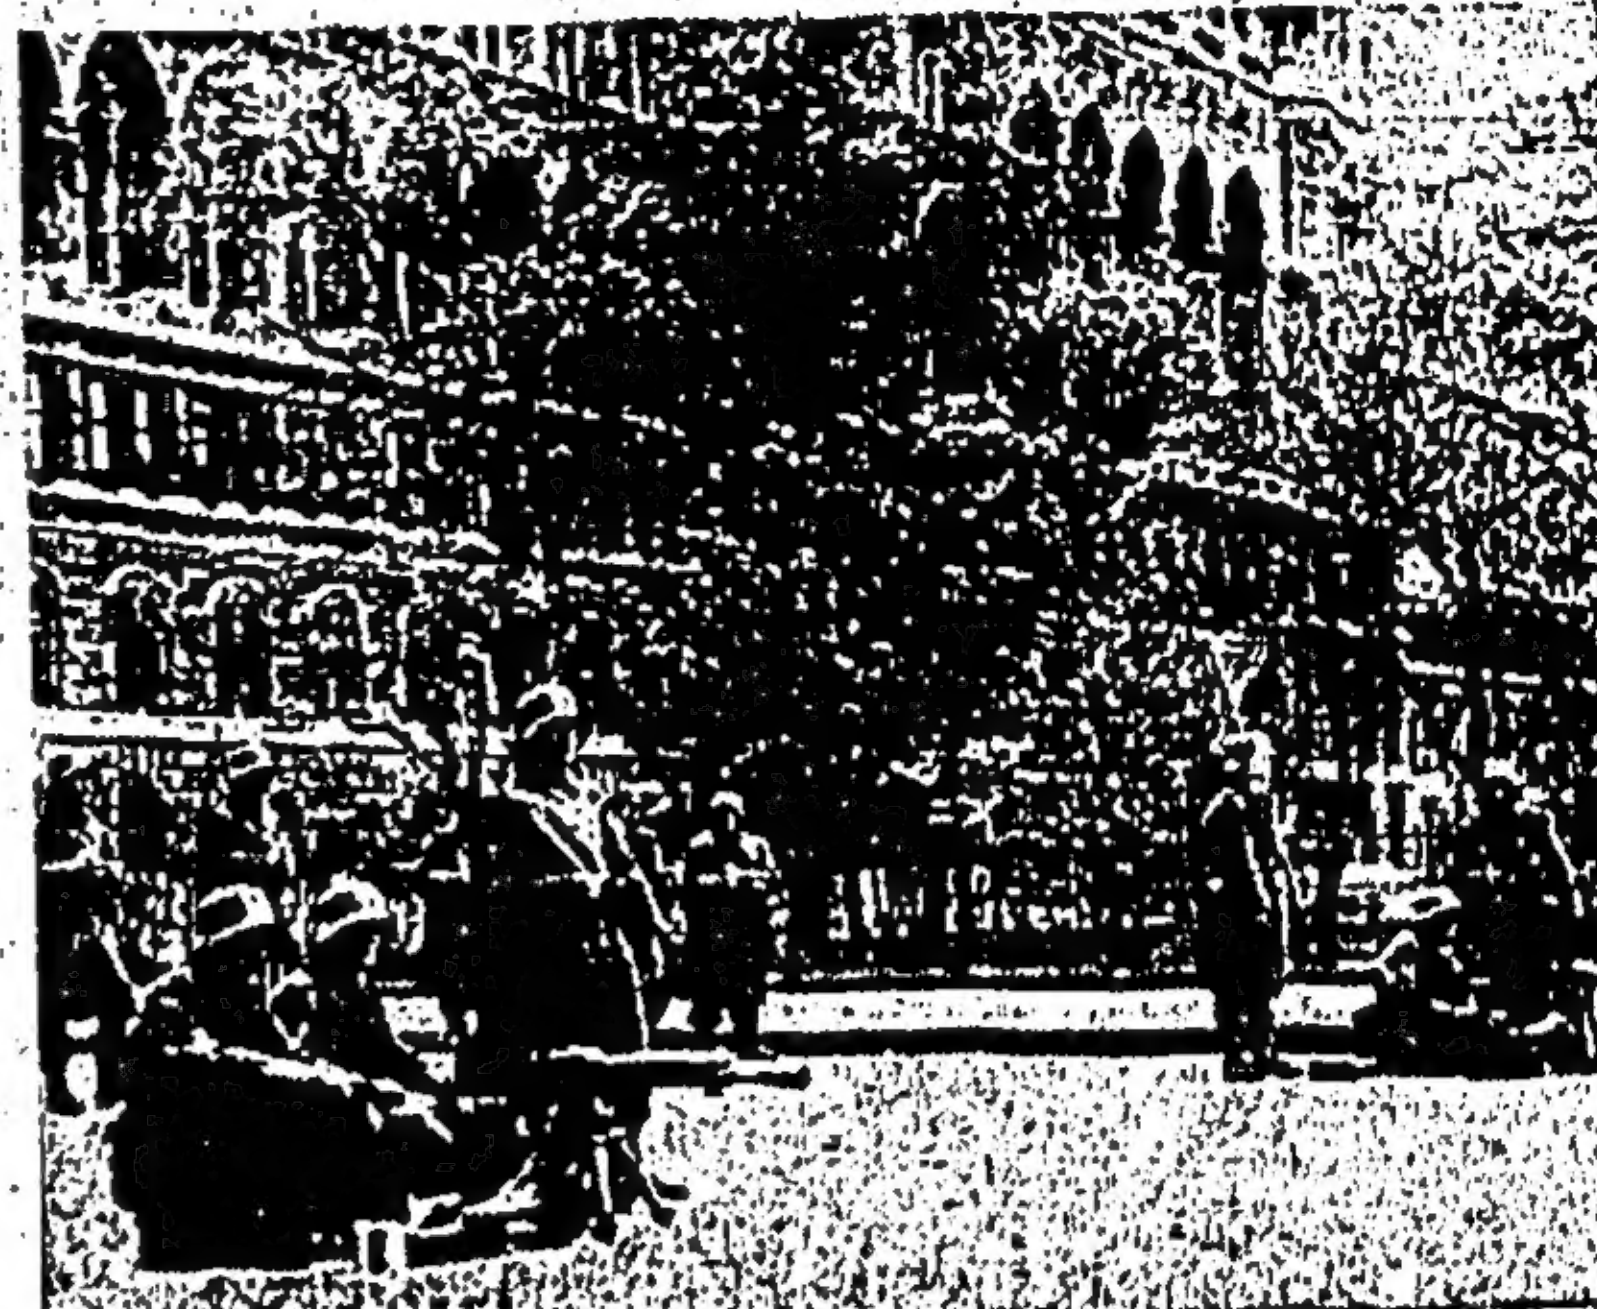

Prince von Starheimberg in a broadcast address last night spoke in a tone almost that of a "claimant to the Throne."

He extolled the loyalty of himself, Dr. Schuschnigg and Major Fey to the government and declared, in the name of the dead Chancellor, that there will not be the slightest compromise with the Nazis, although otherwise Austria is ready to forget the past and live on good terms with her neighbours.—Reuter.

Paris, July 27.

The station-master at Montparnasse subway station was instantly killed to-day in a terrific explosion which occurred in his office.

The explosion was terrific completely wrecking the office. Several other persons, the station-master's assistants and bystanders, were wounded, some of them seriously.

Police investigation is now proceeding but no clue has been forthcoming to suggest either the motive for the outrage or who was responsible.

It has been definitely established that a bomb was planted in the station-master's office, and apparently it was controlled by a time-fuse.—United Press and Reuter Special.

The Labour Bureau wholesale commodity price index last week rose to 75.1 from 74.5 of the previous week.

Automobile production for June amounted to 321,958 cars and trucks, which was slightly below the production figures for May.—Suez, Colbert and Price.

Hope Of Trade Revival

ANALYSIS

London, July 27.

In reviewing the British trade situation in the House of Commons to-day, the President of the Board of Trade, Mr. Walter Runciman, said in the first six months of this year exports totalled £190,000,000, which was an increase of £15,000,000 over the first six months of last year.

The most notable increases in exports referred to the woollen and worsted trades, which showed a three million rise on the half year, and in machinery and iron and steel, each of which showed a rise of two millions. These figures, he said, although not sensational, showed the tendency was in the right direction.

LANCASHIRE HOPES.

No improvement had occurred in the cotton trade, which remained one of the most unfortunate of the great industries. He was, however, hopeful that schemes now being discussed in Lancashire might produce better results.

Unemployment figures in engineering had decreased by about 88,000 and in the coal trade by 25,500, compared with year ago. There had been during the last eighteen months a remarkable change in the country's unemployment figures, but any further big reduction could not be expected from expansion of the home market alone which had done so well as nearly to reach saturation point. It was necessary to rely on world trade for further substantial improvement in the employment figures.

DECLINE ARRESTED.

World trade was unfortunately still paralysed in many regions. The best they could say was that the decline was being arrested, and that Britain's share in the restricted world trade was definitely on the increase.

Mr. Runciman said he had signed commercial agreements with 13 countries and negotiations were proceeding with four others. In every case, the agreements showed an increase in British exports to the countries concerned.

He expressed the opinion that world trade was too much at the mercy of sudden political disturbances for him to make any optimistic prophecy, but he thought the essential conditions for trade revival were present, if only a general restoration of confidence abroad could be secured.—British Wireless.

CRITICISM

(Special to "Telegraph")

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received July 28, 1.41 p.m.)

Minneapolis, July 27.

Military patrols in Minneapolis streets continue to emphasise the remarkable situation that has arisen from the refusal of the employers to accept the proposals of the mediators board in the lorry-drivers' strike.

Feeling is running high in labour circles but any disposition to violence is checked by the rule of martial law.

Complete deadlock continues.

The military dictatorship has now been tightened up the newest measures including the establishment of a modified press censorship, which is aimed principally at the radical publications, who express themselves bitterly about the activities of Governor Olson, who is using State employees in an attempt to break the strike, after the strikers had accepted the Federal Board's peace terms and the employers had refused.

CHICAGO DEADLOCK.

News from Chicago shows that the Union Stockyards dispute is no nearer a settlement. The negotiations there have reached complete deadlock and the biggest livestock market in the world continues closed.

No shipments of cattle to Chicago are now permitted.

SAN FRANCISCO PEACE.

San Francisco reports better news in the labour troubles. The Longshoremen Board has announced that the "hiring-hall" question has been settled satisfactorily, but no details of the agreement are given.

In the meantime, the maritime workers have commenced balloting for the men who are to represent them for collective bargaining.

Berlin, July 27.

The Cotton Control Board has decreed that spinning mills must not in future consume a monthly average of raw materials greater than seventy per cent. of the monthly average for the first three months of 1934.

The producers, distributors and consumers of flax, jute and hemp must advise the authorities of the amount of their stocks by August 8.—Reuter.

Simplest Coiffures Are Best for Blondes

By Alicia Hart

The simplest coiffures are most flattering to blondes and the girl who comes under this heading should realize it and plan her hair style accordingly. Why bother with trying to keep too many waves in place when you look prettier without them?

As a matter of fact, there is a definite trend toward simple hair fashions for all of us this summer. Important coiffure experts are sponsoring neat buns on the neck or rows and rows of little curls across the back with the hair on the top of the head left unwaved and brushed straight back. And a good thing it is, since summer vacations are so close at hand and since no one likes to go to a lot of fuss and bother during the hot months.

Remember, though, that whether you're blonde, medium or dark, healthy, shiny locks are absolutely necessary to one of the new simple coiffures. You'll need to shampoo a little oftener during the summer when the air is filled with dust and you'll have to keep on with the daily brushing between shampoos. If you wash your own hair, be sure to rinse carefully, getting out every trace of soap. Then devise some method of keeping your coiffure neat, whether you're in town or country. One good idea is to go to a hairdresser and have him show you how the first time. After that, you'll be able to do it yourself.

This simple coiffure, plain on top with rows and rows of flattering curls across the back, is perfect for the blonde.

YOUR CHILDREN.

The Teaching of Discipline

By Olive Roberts Barton

A lady writer says some pertinent things on the modern mother in a recent book.

One is this—I quote her directly, "Any phase of living requires discipline, and discipline in its turn requires training. I, personally, think that we are facing a world which will demand more instead of less disciplined individuals. I believe that a child who is healthy and whose home is happy needs discipline mainly as far as the routine-of-life is concerned. This routine, of course, includes all of his habits of living."

And I, personally, think it is the whole thing in a nut-shell. In a few words she has expressed the entire situation.

Yet I believe that most modern mothers are confused, and rightly, by the contradictory advice of child-guidance teachers, who one day propound the need for self-development in the child—individualism, self-reliance, and courage—and the next go on to say that children must be controlled and must learn to bow to law.

Guided by Habits

These two seemingly opposed forces are the hardest things in the world to reconcile. They seem to cancel each other. But not necessarily so.

Both can be done and done well without interference.

The magic of this lies largely within the mother herself.

Her greatest aid will be the routine habits of the daily life of her child. He begins to recognize very, very early the things expected of him. He must have his bath, he must go to bed on time and he must go to his meals on time. A dozen other things are added to this regular routine from year to year. The influence of daily habit is unbeatable in teaching discipline. The mother who realizes this has just about won the battle.

Next comes the question of those innumerable daily occurrences that demand specific orders on her part and that the child should obey.

This is where the trouble comes in. We call these direct orders, or denials, by a long name—"superimposed law." Too much of this superimposed law, or bossing, ruins self-confidence and saps courage, yet the child must respect it or he will grow up an utter stranger to control. On the other hand, too little of it is a bad thing, too.

Look Behind Behaviour

The mother who sees both sides and who can figure out her child is fortunate. She will know, at least much of the time, when he must be made to respect this discipline, and when he may be allowed to exercise his own independence. She will look behind behaviour for motive. She will not require of a little child perfection of deportment beyond his years. She will recognize the innate sense of justice in all her children. She will not use snap judgment but will be ready to hear a case and the reasons against obeying. She will not always look for unqualified obedience.

I believe the swing away from discipline has been too extreme. Children are going to need especial

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

Skin Tonic During Summer

By Alicia Hart

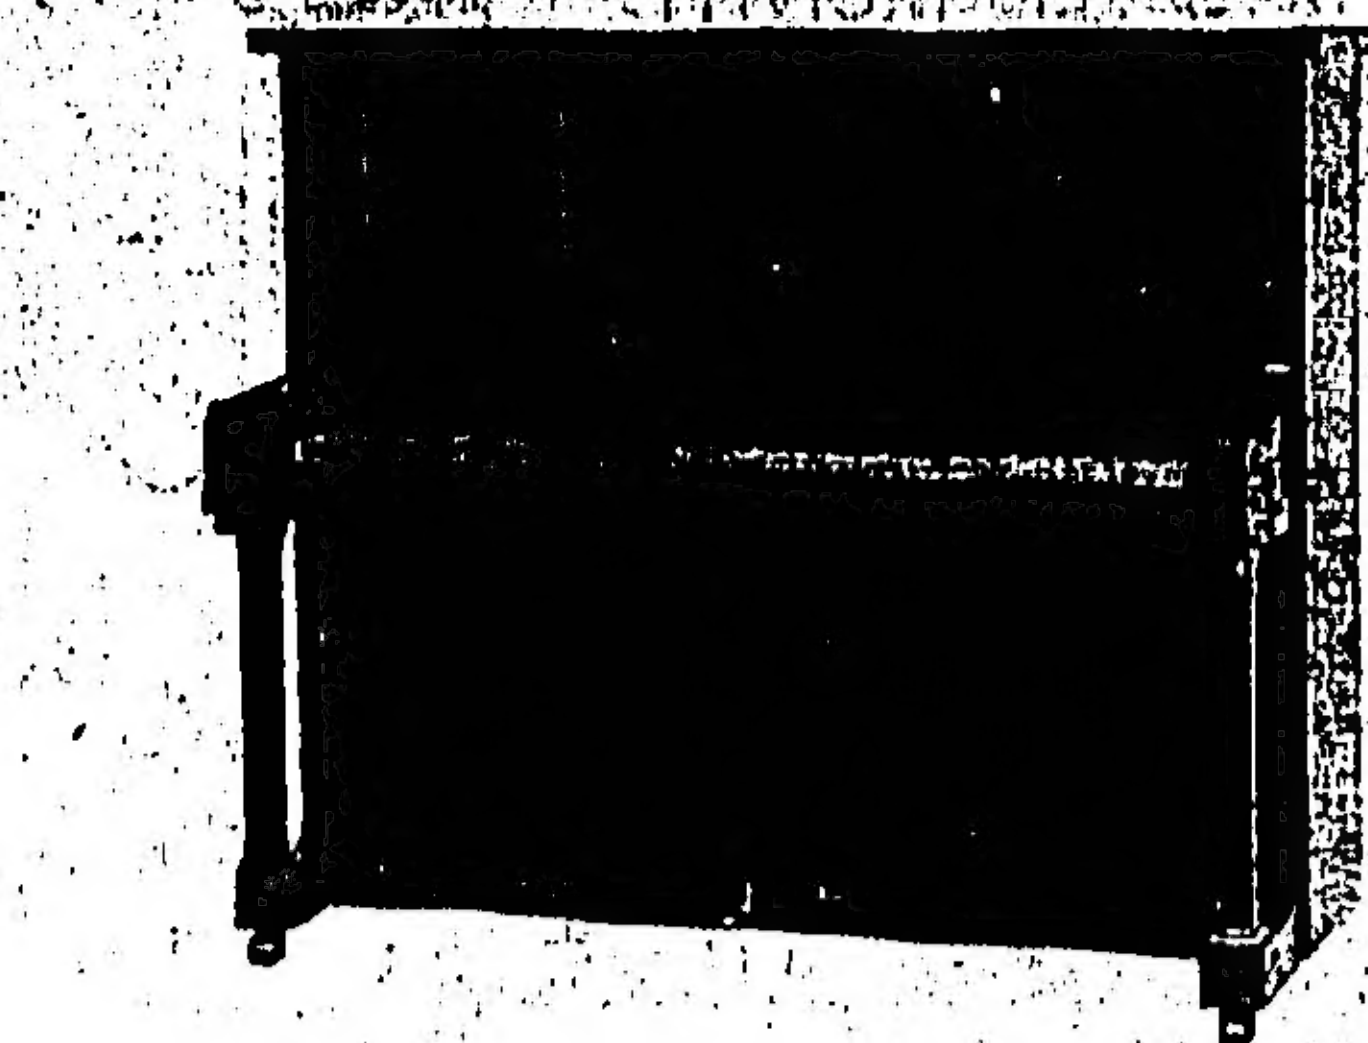

The woman who can't bear any unnecessary discomfort during the hot months is apt to put aside beauty routines and cosmetics which take up too much time. In their place she probably will want to substitute simple, time-saving treatments and preparations that are cooling and refreshing.

Since all skins tend to be less dry in hot weather, it's not a bad idea to use a liquid cleanser instead of cleansing cream. Keep the bottle in the ice box when it's not in use. And keep your skin tonic or astringent there, too.

Speaking of skin tonic, it's one item that's sure to be called upon for double duty all summer. Whether you clean your skin with soap and water, liquid cleanser or a cream, you'll find that it's very refreshing to pat on ice cold skin tonic afterward. Always pour a little tonic into a dish and dip large cotton pads in it. Then, using the pads, pat the tonic on the face, neck and forehead. An astringent is applied in the same manner only, of course, you shouldn't use it oftener than once a day.

ly the self-discipline that lies within themselves. Every leader in any walk of life needs self-control. Strong but pliant, iron that bends but does not break, a plant that adjusts itself to new soil and grows.

Parents need to be just but firm. Too much qualified obedience is no obedience. But discipline, or routine obedience, is seldom questioned once it is established.

SOPHIE KERR'S LATEST SUCCESS IN ROMANTIC PROBLEM FICTION "STAY OUT OF MY LIFE!"

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

JANE TERRY comes to New York determined to show her home town and especially her life. Amy had been her best friend until HOWARD JACKSON broke the engagement. Jane forced on him and married Amy. Unable to bear the sight of Amy's happiness, Jane obtained a job in a New York real estate office.

Jane is clever and soon is making an excellent salary. She has an affair with ROGER THORPE, a business acquaintance who is married. Later she tires of him, and when he offers to bear the expense of their child she dismisses him contemptuously.

CHAPTER XIV

"I'm going," Roger Thorpe said. "But Jane—if you need me, if you want me—"

"I'll never need you. I'll never want you." Her voice, for all its level quality, was like a whip lash. "We're through—I don't even want you to speak to me if you see me on the street. And stay away from here. That reminds me—give me your key. Very thoughtful of you to ring this morning."

"I always ring when Kitty's here."

"As if Kitty didn't know. Don't be silly."

There was a pause and Thorpe, sighing, rose to leave. "Jane," he asked, hesitatingly, "How are you off for money?"

"I am all right, and it doesn't concern you anyway."

"I couldn't go without asking you. If you should happen to need any, just call me up."

"Where? At your house?"

Thorpe sighed again. "You're a queer girl. There's only one thing more I can say, that I'm sorry from the bottom of my heart. I'm sorry and ashamed. I feel so rotten, getting out and leaving you alone."

"You may feel rotten, but you're relieved, too. If only I'll hold my tongue, if only I'll not bother you, that's all you hope. You'll wake up at night and go cold all over wondering what would happen if I came along again and wasn't inclined to be discreet. This will be a good lesson to you not to make love to any more girls in the office, Roger."

Thorpe winced, turned resentful. "Since we're giving advice, I'll give some to you. Don't take another lover unless you really love him. Remember that. It makes a difference. And goodbye, Jane."

At the closing of the door Jane sat down, limp and blank. Well, she was rid of him. And glad of it. "He's a coward," she thought.

"He's weak. He's not honest about anything. What made me do it! What made me! I knew exactly the sort he was all the time, except maybe right at first."

She put her head down on her hands and let the scenes of her relationship with Thorpe drift slowly from her memory. His first kindness, when she was finding the office stale and difficult; and then, his personal interest, and her response, flattered and confident. "Aunt Rosa would have said it was my vanity again, and maybe it was."

She had felt so sophisticated, so free—she had believed so certainly that the marriage ceremony was no more than mumbo-jumbo, meaningless to honest minds, worthless to honest lovers, just a lot of words that tie up people into an inconvenient, stifling intimacy. She had not minded in the least that Thorpe himself was married. She was, she told him, above the pettiness of wanting legal possession of his name. And to tell the truth, her views along that line had not altered at all. She was honestly glad she hadn't married him. He had lost his interest for her and the glamour of her imagined courage and even more imaginary superiority to less daring women had worn threadbare. She wanted to be rid of him. He had become a wearying nuisance.

At first, she admitted, it had all seemed wonderful. The apartment and furniture, getting used to living in it, and ordering Kitty about had been gorgeous fun. Thorpe came and went discreetly. He didn't embarrass her. He was importantly romantic, ardent enough to make her more than sure that men, grown-up men of the world, found in her no lack of attraction, even if the boys she had known in Marburg had fought shy of her.

Then there was the amusement of the intrigue at the office, of meeting formally there and pretending to be unaware of each other, though they had established a simple set of signs—if Jane sent Thorpe an office memorandum on blue paper it meant "Are you coming to-night?" and the blue paper for his reply meant yes, white paper, no.

Jane wondered now if it was not the office and its business that had held them together for this long two years. They had worked together there so easily. She had absorbed his methods, profited by his experience, and in return she had kept him informed about matters which came from other departments direct to Kandell. She had learned of Kandell's Chelsea project at its very beginning and Thorpe had seen the way to buy in ahead of his employer and make a creamy profit for himself. Jane had put the money wrung from Miss Rosa's stewardship into the scheme and the gain had doubled it. She felt no guilt in tricking Kandell. She had seen his own ruthless, unscrupulous schemes win out time after time. It seemed no more than fair that for once he shouldn't get all the best of it. She had helped Thorpe work out the details, and the quick turn to her advantage gave her a cheering sense of power.

That profitable transaction marked the high point of her affair with Thorpe. For a while she was happier with him than she had ever been. She imagined them as partners, doing great things together, a free man, a free woman, swinging far beyond commonplace humdrum humanity—but she expected the same humanity to admire and to envy—and it was at this time that she discovered she was going to have a child, and welcomed the discovery as the final sign of her emancipation from the rules that limit and plague lesser spirits.

It did not have the same effect on Thorpe. He was frightened and Jane's grandiloquent ideas frightened him still more. Also they shocked him. Jane ought to have been terrified. She ought to have cried and she ought to have clung to him and implored him to help her. But she did none of these things. She laughed at his stuttered reasonings and arguments. She assured him that the things he said didn't apply to her.

His resistance strengthened her obstinacy. He couldn't make her see what an utter little fool she was and presently reached the stage of reproach and command. And then the last remnant of glamour was off Thorpe for Jane.

One lengthy acid quarrel succeeded another. Jane pointed out to him that in brains and business ability she was quite his equal, if not his superior, and that she had been able to outstep and stop various bad holes in the scheme by which they had profited at Kandell's expense. There was sufficient truth in this to flick Thorpe's self-esteem on the raw. She said she never had thought it sporting of him to use her place in Mr. Kandell's confidence to better himself, and that she was pretty sure he cared for her only to use her in this way.

She also pointed out he wasn't supporting her, that he never had done so and that such presents as he had given her—that brooch and bracelet of sapphires and pearl, the crystal fruit dish, for her dining table, the gold cigarette case and so forth, she would gladly return to him. She reminded him that she was 15 years younger than he, had never had a lover, that he was married, established, and knew perfectly well what he was doing. With these and similar thrusts she made him feel cheap and dirty and dishonest.

Though he knew it was the truth, he knew also that it was qualified and explained by much other truth less advantageous to Jane's case for herself, but which he could not fling back at her. The necessary restraint did not endear her to him. Still his sense of responsibility would not let him leave her until he was driven away.

And now she had driven him away. And the long hard wave of disgust for him and for herself—though this she would never have admitted to him—which had carried her through this last scene, had subsided and she was spent and done. She remembered the way she had thrown herself on her bed and sobbed about Howard Jackson and Amy, but to-day she was past tears. Then she had still had her beautiful, strong, untouched body, but now that had faded her. She was ugly and awkward and weak and ill. She was alone.

There was no one in the world on whom she could rely for the grace and solace of companionship, and she wanted companionship. She needed someone to whom she could talk and ease the burden of secrecy, for that had become almost intolerable. For a moment she almost regretted letting Thorpe go. At least he knew. They shared this strange, dark, pitiless mystery into which she had gone so carelessly and unknowingly.

LEOPOLD'S POWERS.

TOOLS TO FORGE CHAIN OF BELGIAN RECOVERY

Brussels, July 27.

The Belgian Senate by a vote of 89 to 60 passed a Bill giving King Leopold special powers with a view to achieving the rapid financial and economic recovery of the nation and the reduction of the public charges.

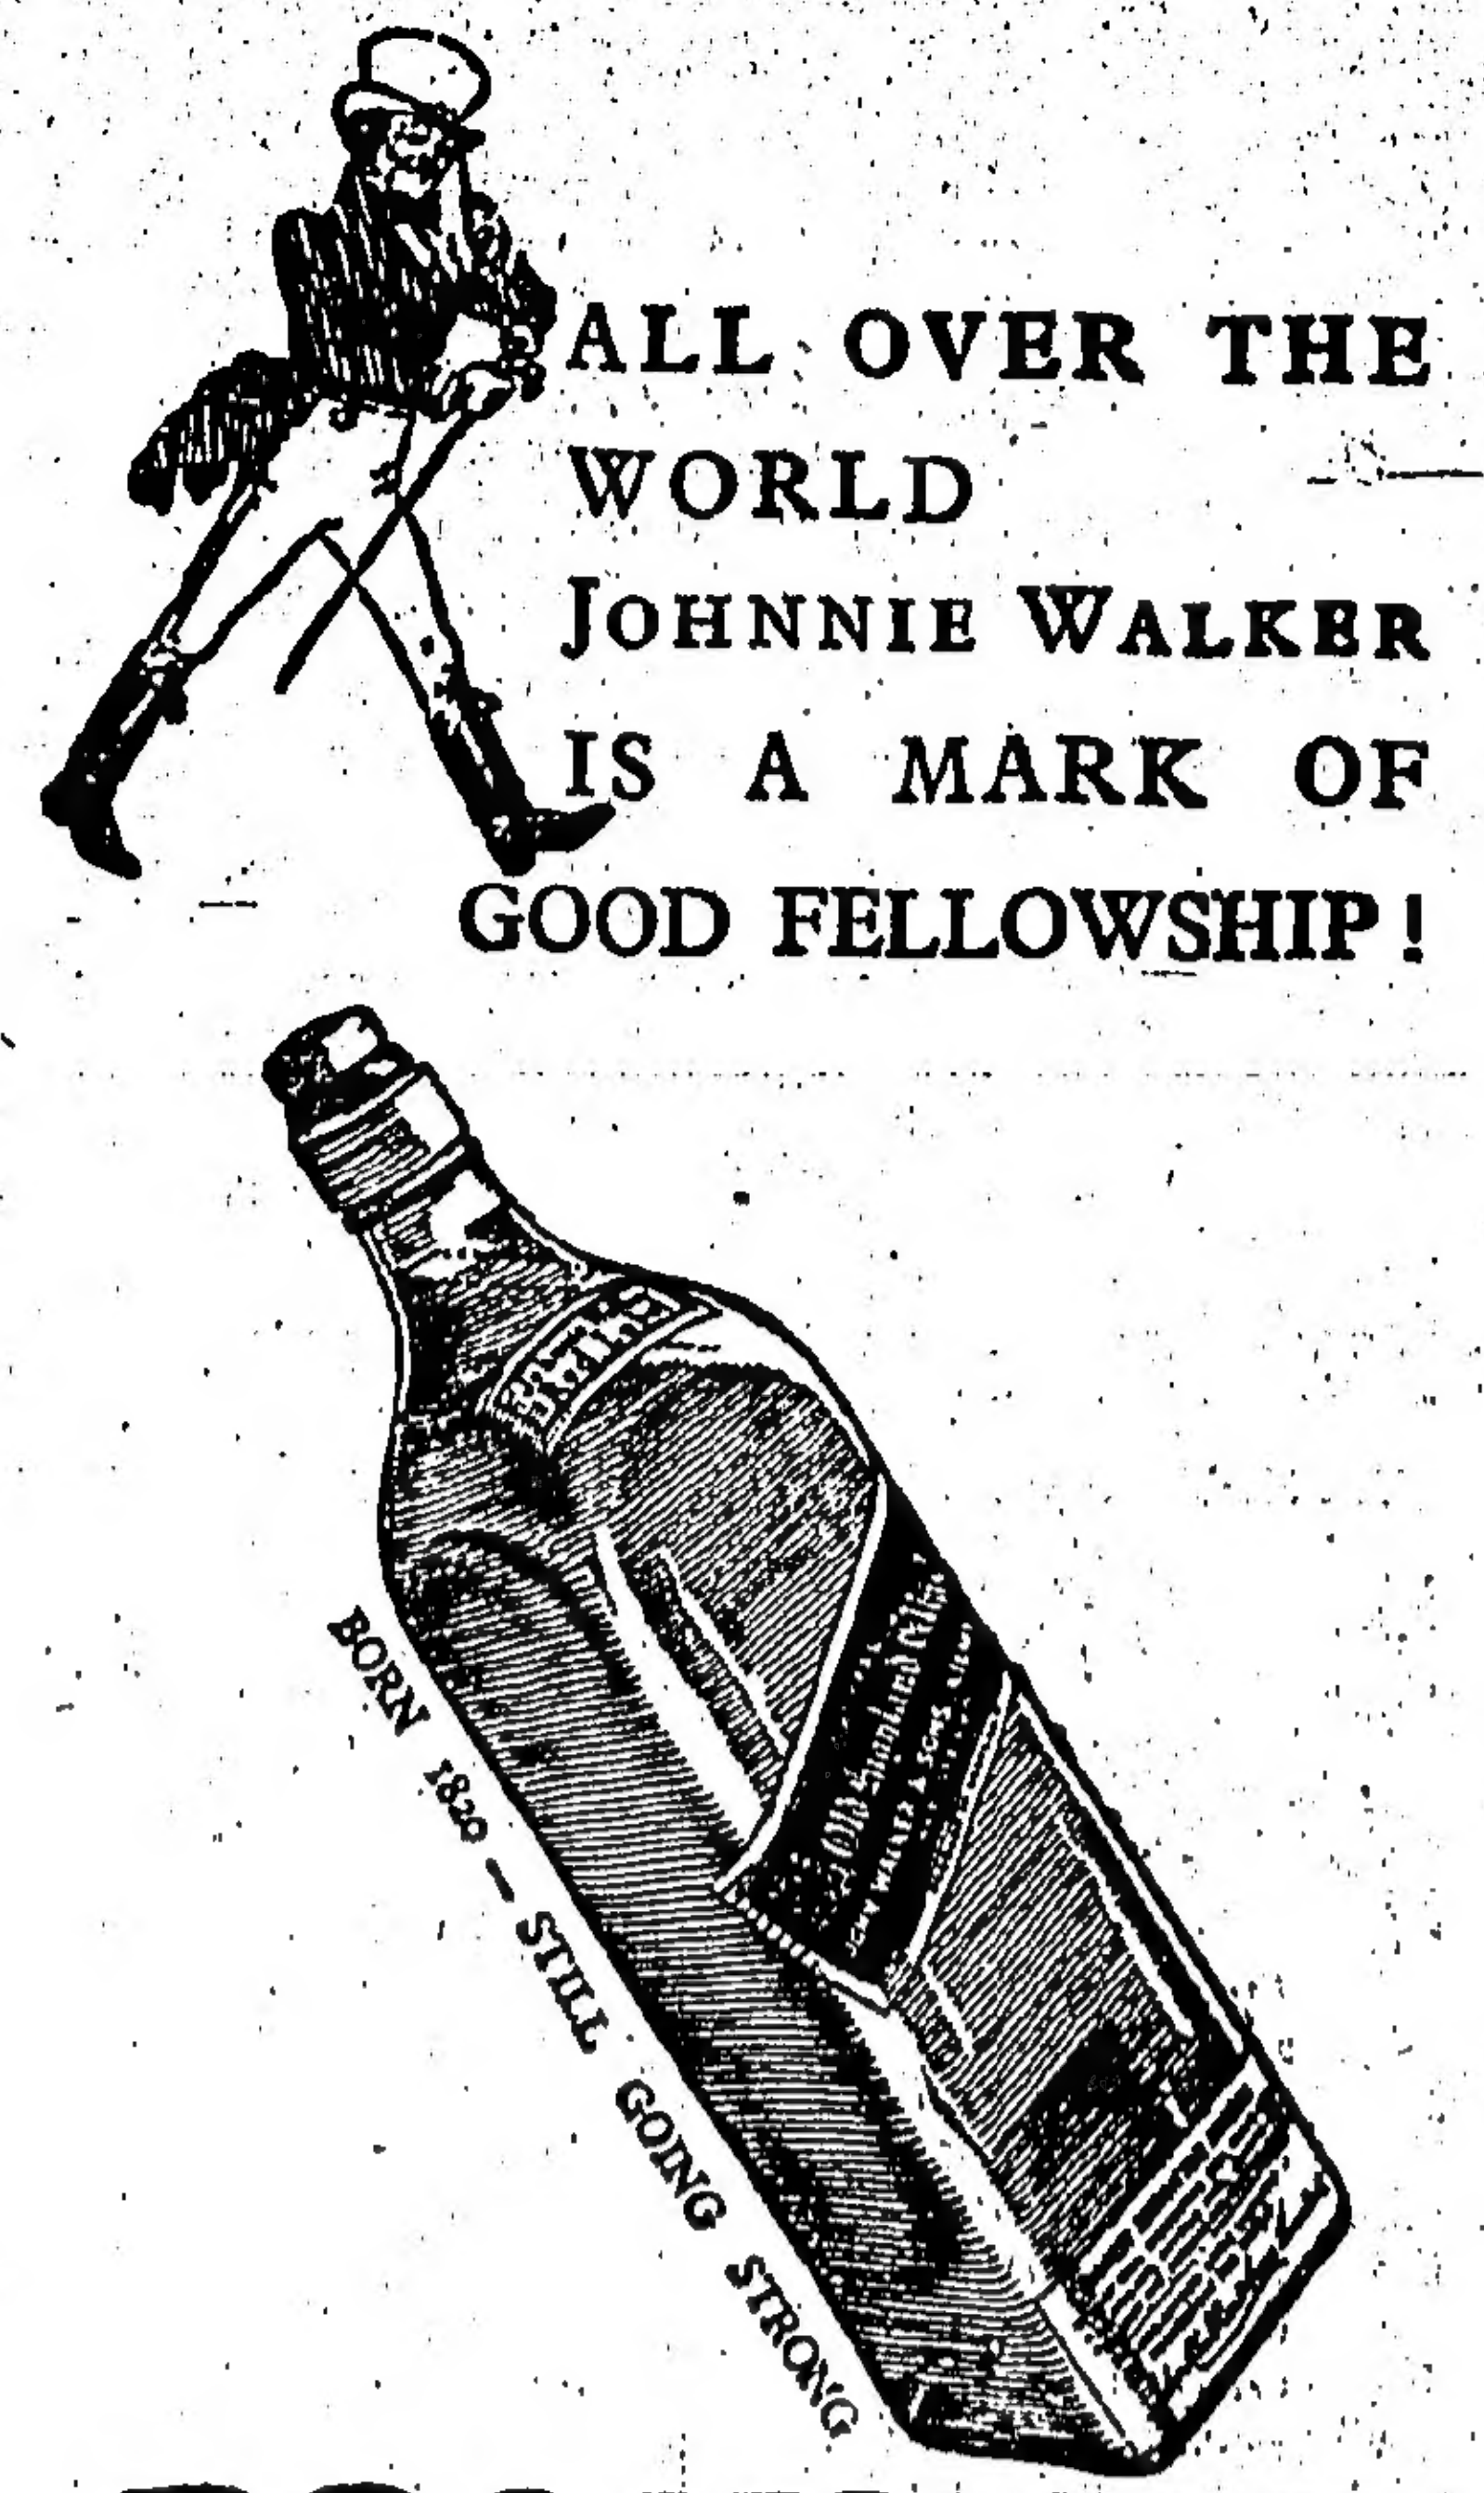

The measure also empowers the King to protect the credit and trade of Belgium and take whatever steps are necessary to reduce the number of unemployed.—Reuter Special.

A BROKEN DOWN SYSTEM.

This is a condition which many people are given but few really understand. It is simply weakness—a break down as it were, of the vital forces that sustain the system. No matter what may be the cause (they are almost numberless), the symptoms are much the same: the more prominent being sleeplessness, sense of prostration or weakness, depression of spirits and want of energy for all the ordinary affairs of life. Now, what alone is essential in all such cases is increased vitality—vigorous, vital strength and energy to throw off these morbid influences, and as night succeeds the day this may be more certainly secured by a course of

THE NEW FRENCH REMEDY.

THERAPION No. 3—This is a combination, so easily as it is taken in accordance with the printed directions will the shattered health be restored. THE EXPIRING LAMP OF LIFE—LIGHTED UP AFRESH and new existence imparted in place of what had so lately seemed hopeless, need up and valueless. This preparation is suitable for all ages, convalescence and conditions, in either sex, and it is difficult to imagine a disease or derangement whose main feature is weakness, that will not be sprightly and positively overcome by this recuperative essence, which is destined to cast into oblivion every ailment that has preceded it for this whole special "accrue of humanity." CINEMA SCREENINGS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

Glenda Farrell is to be seen in her latest role, one of the happiest of her career, in "Missouri" in "Lady For A Day," showing on Sunday at the King's Theatre. In addition to Miss Farrell, the cast of this picture, which has been hailed by all critics who have seen it as one of the outstanding talkies made to date, includes Warren William, May Robson, Guy Kibbee, Jean Parker, Ned Sparks, Hobart Bosworth, Walter Connolly and Nat Pendleton. Frank Capra directed.

"To-night's The Night"

For ninety minutes of thrills and riotous laughter you must visit the Queen's Theatre to-day where Leslie Fuller is starring in "To-night's The Night." It is a most amusing picture. Leslie Fuller, Britain's rubber-faced comedian, has the lead.

"Ann Vickers"

"Ann Vickers," Sinclair Lewis' immortal story of the women of to-day, is on the screen at the King's Theatre. Irene Dunne has the role of Ann Vickers. Playing opposite her is Walter Huston, and a galaxy of favourites back up these two great performers. They include Conrad Nagel, Bruce Cabot, Edna May Oliver, Sam Hardy and others.

"Man of the Forest"

One of the real Western thrillers that made the action drama so universally welcome on all screen programmes was reborn yesterday at the Alhambra Theatre, Kowloon, when Zane Grey's story, "Man of the Forest," opened. The picture is by far one of the best portrayals of this author's novels yet to reach the screen. It includes in its cast Randolph Scott, Henry Carey, Noah Beery, Verna Hillie and Buster Crabbe. "Man of the Forest" brings back to the screen, in the person of Randolph Scott, one of those strong, silent heroes—fast-shooting and fast-riding—whose exploits always rouse audiences to a high pitch of excitement. It is in every sense of the word, an action picture.

"Frontier Marshal"

While on location at Victorville, during the production of "Frontier Marshal," in which Irene Bentley appears opposite George O'Brien, she displayed the fact that she is just as game as any Hollywood "double" or stunt expert. Several scenes in the picture call for plenty of fortitude, but she refused to have a "double" substitute for her. One scene in particular, in which she is whisked through the air into the arms of George O'Brien as he gallops at full speed on his horse, could have been made with a double, but Miss Bentley did the scene herself—and got a great kick out of it. "Frontier Marshal" comes to the Alhambra Theatre tomorrow.

I give fresh milk!"

JUST think of it . . . fresh milk whenever you want it! Milk that keeps perfectly . . . without refrigeration . . . in any climate!

You can have that kind of milk. It is called Klim.

Klim is pure, fresh milk—with all the flavour, all the nourishment of fresh liquid milk—only it is powdered.

You can use Klim dry for cooking. You can use it in beverages. You can mix it with water for drinking.

Klim in its Powdered Form contains 28% Butterfat. Klim can be made into the consistency of cream by the simple process of adding less liquid.

VAUXHALLS MEET THE DEMAND
Over 18,000 motorists have been content to wait weeks for delivery of this Light-Six by Vauxhall. Even with nine months' day-and-night work the Vauxhall factory was not able to cope with the rush of orders. And now this one snag is removed. Factory extensions costing over £200,000 now enable Vauxhall to meet the demand. Now you can get normal delivery of a Vauxhall Light Six. Attention given to all enquiries and demonstrations afforded.

A PLEA FOR THE RICKSHAMAN

As the result of a prolonged study of the ricksha problem, the Shanghai Municipal Council, is undertaking a thoroughgoing reform of the whole system under which these vehicles are leased and operated. It is also introducing a new and better type of ricksha, and making provision for welfare work amongst the pullers on a contributory scheme which will enable financial assistance to be rendered those who are no longer fit for service. In this latter connection, the licensees of the vehicles are to be permitted to make a small additional daily charge for renting out the vehicles, providing they contribute a stated sum monthly to the Pullers' Mutual Aid Association. Preference is being given by the Council, in granting licences, to owners who agree to co-operate in this scheme. Care is also being taken to see that pullers' licences are only granted to men who are physically fit, and for this purpose the Council is appointing four qualified Chinese doctors for temporary service in order to undertake a complete medical examination of pullers applying for licences. In Hongkong, the ricksha-puller unhappily gets very little consideration. Performing a distinctly useful service in areas not otherwise adequately served with transport facilities, he is, in others, looked upon more as a nuisance than anything else. With the steady improvement and extension of motor transport, he is gradually but surely being ousted, and, as time goes on, is destined to disappear from our streets. Indeed, a good case could already be made out for exclusion of rickshas from the more congested main thoroughfares. But so long as there is a call for rickshas locally, it is only right and proper that consideration should be shown the pullers as a class. They have a hard life, even under the best of conditions. Some of the measures which Shanghai is taking might, therefore, be worthy of attention by the Hongkong authorities, particularly the mutual aid assistance plan. A further point well worthy of being taken up is the question of the physical fitness of the pullers. It is by no means an uncommon sight to see in charge of vehicles men who are obviously unfit for the work. As far as can be gathered from the traffic regulations, no steps are taken to see that the men are physically capable of the

NOTES OF THE DAY

AUSTRIA EASIER

Europe looks at Austria to-day with calmer perspective. Loyalty of the military forces and swift action by the provisional government kept the Nazi revolt within bounds. Little further danger now exists of the affair progressing beyond the stage of purely internal trouble; and even that is not expected to last long. Those Nazi groups who remain recalcitrant are gradually being subdued and it is unquestioned that the situation is now well under control. The loss of life has been happily small, when all circumstances are considered.

HITLER'S INTERVENTION

Conspicuous among the factors which have contributed largely to the easing of tension has been the attitude of Herr Hitler. He personally intervened to rob the Austrian Nazis of any thought of encouragement of support from Germany. Herr Habicht, arch-agitator on the Munich side of the border, has been dismissed. Captain von Papen has been sent to Vienna as plenipotentiary extraordinary, charged with the task of improving Austro-German relations and establishing them upon a new basis. The policy is surprising and yet not so surprising. Action of a direct nature dislodging Germany from the events of the last day or two was necessary to prevent undesirable repercussions. Germany now appears in the role almost of a penitent for permitting past agitation fanning the spirit among the Austrian Nazis which induced them to the wild adventure of Wednesday morning.

REAL DAMAGE

The real damage has been done, beyond remedy. Austria is today in an unfortunate position. Dr. Dollfuss has been succeeded at the Chancellery by the young and comparatively inexperienced Prince von Starhemberg. He is there by right of his control of the Heimwehr—in other words by the right of the might of the force which he controls. Austria, though not Hitlerite, is more definitely Fascist than before. Britain and France see one more step to democracy gone, for while Dollfuss was a Dictator he was a Dictator by force of circumstances not of choice and if he had had assurances that the Heimwehr could be kept in control would have restored Parliamentary government at the first opportunity.

UNCERTAIN OUTLOOK

The future is uncertain. Von Starhemberg may safely rely on the support of Italy, as long as the Heimwehr resists Anschluss. For whatever may be said about Italian-German relations, nothing is more certain than this, that Signor Mussolini will not, without a fight, see Germany's borders brought down to Carinthia. And Britain and France have both reiterated their statement of policy of February last, guaranteeing Austria's independence.

MOCK INDEPENDENCE

It is, of course, a mock independence and it will remain so until the problem of Austria's future is tackled realistically and without international jealousies and rivalries. Anschluss may definitely be ruled out, for a very long time to come at all events. The peace of Europe depends upon the buffer zone between Germany and Italy and Yugoslavia. It has been stated that if Austria did not exist it would be necessary to invent it. That remains true to-day. And that is still true although it ought to men a union of Danubian nations. The old Austria was essential, though unfortunately it was composed of people who considered themselves politically oppressed. The true solution of the central European problem would be the reconstruction of a Danubian Confederation—that is to say, the old Empire in a new form, in which the oppressed peoples would enjoy full autonomy, but inside which tariff barriers and hostile frontiers would be demolished.

work they are called upon to do. There is provision made whereby animals employed to draw vehicles have to pass a test of fitness, to the satisfaction of the Colonial Veterinary Surgeon, whilst in respect of rickshas the regulations call for periodical inspection regarding their condition. Yet the physical fitness of the human beast of burden is entirely overlooked. The whole ricksha problem, so far as the pullers are concerned, appears to call for the application of a little more humanitarianism.

MR. PEPYS IN HONGKONG

July 20th.—This day I find to be a little cooler, of which I am glad. To my office, where I do find it very strange that, in spite of the triumphs of modern electrical engineering, I am still put to a stonede to start my overhead fan save with a push from a stick. Very busy ordering my papers all day and later to a preview of a picture with a pretty lady, but she is not amused. And indeed she had good cause, the picture being as bad a one as ever I see. Later comes her husband, and we all very merry upon the Terrace of the Gloucester House, though I am not at ease when I do look at the parapet at the far end. However a glass or two of Holland's waters mingled with ginger ale puts me in good heart and after I dine very pleasantly with my friends and so home and to bed.

21st.—Up very betimes 'and I find the morning mighty cool and pleasant thus, but it is very cloudy. And when at my office down comes the rain and so heavily that I do perceive that my match at Bowles must be postponed, which is most displeasing to me, as the programme falls sadly in arrears and moreover I had anticipated the game with no little zest. Instead I do invite Mr. Muleygrubs and his lady to take a glass of wine with me at the Hostelry before luncheon. The rain falling heavily I do entreat a seat in the Motor Coach of the Clerk of the Acts, else I had been drowned. At the Hostelry I do find Mr. M. to be detained but as his Lady is there I do successfully conquer my disappointment and all very merry. Later he arrives and tells me a many good stories 'which I had been minded to get down here but my memory faileth me. Later to the Snake-Pit where I do find the population to be less than usual, and we take our Mulligatawny in comfort beneath a fan. Thereafter I return to my chamber and fell to ordering my book case, and later doze a little. Before dinner on the verandah, I fall in talk with Mr. Povey, Creed and other and we speak of the talk in the news sheets of the fashion of men's dress in the hot weather. Creed calls to mind that one of the king's justices in the magistrates' courts did permit open necks if the shirt worn be collared, and did himself sit upon the bench in a tennis shirt and white coat. But thereon a naughty press-man did report His Worship as sitting in a blue blazer and easy shirt, which—contempt—says Creed, he should have purged with six months in gaol. And indeed it is a question upon which all men do have their own opinions; but I for my part, cannot see that an open neck is more derogatory to the dignity of the Court than an apologetic visage or a prickly-heat speckled throat. In the open spaces, I do see no harm whatever even in ladies' company unless a man be of such pithecanthropine hirsuteness that he is offensive to the eye. Yet for such a one to present a naked chest is as unseemly as for a stout woman to do on shorts. Mr. Povey tells us that it seems like that the strike in San Francisco will collapse, and I trust it shall prove so.

22nd Lord's Day.—Heavy rain falls well nigh all night and all through the day, tho' by great good fortune the heaviest showers are separated by spells of dry so that the storm-water drains may carry off the water safely, and to this alone do I attribute the lack of land-slides. Finding the morning so foul, I lay very late, and read much. The news of the Test match is very ill as Mr. Bradman and Mr. Ponsford do prove too hard for us. And I doubt we shall save the game.

23rd.—On awaking this morning I do find it rains heavily still, and I am sorry for it, yet as I suppose, it helps the water question. Yet would I rather see the Reservoirs overflowing at the end of September than in July. To my office where I am very busy all day, and am constrained to bring back some papers to my Chamber where I work at them until mid-night, which displeases me.

24th.—To a preview of a picture with Mistress Ann's parents, and though it is amusing in parts the plot is beneath contempt as is ever the case in American, and most British pictures. And I am persuaded that the only ones I do enjoy are the plays of Mr. T. Walls and R. Lynn. After dinner upon the terrace in Gloucester House which I do find very cool and pleasant, and later to the Hostelry where my guests do dance. But I would they played more waltzes, instead of all these wriggling fox-trots.

25th.—I read in the news sheets that they have shot down Mr. Dillinger, and I trust that the news be true, and that it is not a case of providing a substitute. Here in Hongkong there is a fight between Coolies in Staunton Street and several are hurt. But much of this I do put down to the hot weather. The Ceylon council do seem pretty opinionastre on the quota question and spoke of a boycott against British goods, which seems to me as naughty a thing as possible, seeing especially the prosperity and freedom England has brought to the formerly downtrodden population. It seems there is grave news from Austria, but why it should be regarded as a menace to world peace I am not clear, as if the Austrian people wish to kill each other or if one faction wishes to attack another, I am at a stonde to see what business it is of other peoples. And it is in my mind that if the stupid politicians of these times did mind their own countries' business and let others alone, there would be more chance of peace. And there would be still more if there were no politicians.

26th.—Fine weather continues, but it is mighty hot. Very busy with my papers all day, and in the evening writing in my Chamber. And so to bed.

"Oh, no, these belong to my grandson; I haven't played baseball for years."

The helpfulness of the Rolleiflex is practically human. Considering the factors of economy, simplicity of operation and accuracy, this camera is quite unexcelled. But its special importance to the discriminating photographer lies in its ability to perform things that generally require manipulation, imagination and the aid of supplementary devices. A ground-glass finder shows your image colourfully in actual film size and right. A depth indicator clearly the suitability of your subject to its lack of appropriateness. A high speed focusing of 1/1000 sec. is synchronised with and actuating the camera lens focuses your subject with infinite exactitude, demonstrating faithfully the actual appearance of your finished picture. And Rolleiflex combines these results with a truly amazing simplicity.

First of all, decide just what is absolutely necessary.
For instance, if you're a golfer, you'll need at least one golf dress. However, if you never go near the links, but do play quite a lot of tennis, get one of the new sleeveless tennis frocks and forget about the golfing outfit.

Speaking of tennis dresses, those of natural linen with brilliant belts or scarfs are stunning. If not a dress, then look at pleated shorts with amusing little shirts to wear with them.
Something in which to travel should be one of your major considerations. Look at sheers, chiffons or washable crepes in amusing prints.
A sports frock can serve several purposes. Wear it in the morning and to luncheons as well as when you're watching games. This type of outfit, which is featured so extensively by both American and French designers, really is a "must" in any well-planned wardrobe.

For the short holiday get crepe or one of the new novelty cottons. If you can't bear to go without a bit of organdie, top your silk dance dress with an organdie jacket. It takes very little time to press a mere jacket.

Accessories, of course, are a bit of a problem. If you're going in for these new wide-brimmed hats, you'll have to carry an extra hat-box or two. Those hats simply will not go in the average suitcase.

It's bothersome—but the hats are so flattering that you'll probably feel compensated for your trouble.
Take along several pairs of white washable gloves and a couple of extra slip-covers for your white linen purse.

GERMANY SEEKS AIR SUPREMACY & GREAT MILITARY MACHINE

BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS

Berlin.—Germany is rearming— feverishly. I have confirmed this in American, British, and even German quarters. There can no longer be any doubt.

Just as Japan seized Manchuria, then asked the rest of the world what it intended to do about it, Germany is preparing to present a frightened Europe with a fait accompli by arming herself and trusting to the upset state of the world to get by with it.

Such is the situation the 50 nations comprising the General Commission of the Disarmament Conference will confront on May 29, when they meet in Geneva to see what, if anything, can be done to head off a new race for armaments.

France, Britain, Italy, and Germany's other neighbours will now have to make the fateful decision whether German rearmament shall be regulated or unregulated.

The question of whether she shall arm or remain unarmed is no longer the issue. She is already strengthening her military machine and is grimly determined to go ahead with it, with or without her neighbours' consent, come what may.

EUROPE ON EDGE.

"We know that Germany is rearming," a British observer told me, "but what is giving Europe the jitters is that nobody knows how far she intends to go."

Which is true. Hitler is using a rubber yardstick which never ceases to stretch. Less than a year ago, at Geneva, Germany was offered an army twice the size of the present Reichswehr, plus $18,000,000 worth of new armaments along with it.

What she then demanded, in addition, was:

500 observation planes	$ 8,000,000
100 pursuit planes	5,000,000
200 6-inch howitzers	10,000,000
100 6-inch guns	6,250,000
300 various sized tanks	4,250,000

222 8-inch guns	9,200,000
2400 machine guns, heavy and light	1,400,000
Ammunition for the above	14,000,000
Total	$24,850,000

To-day the yardstick is much longer. For the fiscal year which began April 1, 1934, Germany's federal budget calls for increases for the national defence amounting to 821,000,000 marks, or $328,000,000 at the current rate of exchange.

MILLIONS FOR STORM TROOPS

Of this increase, 223,000,000 ($90,000,000) goes to swell the budget of the army and navy; 210,000,000 ($84,000,000) to the air ministry; and 260,000,000 marks (exactly $100,000,000) for an item hitherto unknown to a German budget—the Nazi Storm Troops.

Somewhere, somehow, therefore, Adolf Hitler plans to spend on the German war machine, this year alone, and above normal, more than five times what it would have cost less than 12 months ago fully to meet Germany's armament demands.

Chancellor Hitler has let it be known that he is ready to accept a convention which would "freeze" armaments within certain limits and provide for international supervision.

Under this convention, Hitler would agree to "disarmament" of his own Storm Troops, now 3,000,000 strong. They would not possess arms, receive military instruction, be officered by regular army men, take part in field manoeuvres, or be concentrated in strategically placed military camps.

The regular German army, or Reichswehr, would be increased from 100,000 professional soldiers under 12-year enlistments, to a short-term service 300,000 strong.

WANTS MILITARY PLANES.

Hitler wants short-range military planes, but is willing to

HUGE ORDERS PLACED FOR SWIFT U. S. PLANES

After in the sky, Germany's aviation minister, Hermann Goering, seems to vision his dream come true—a giant armada upholding the supremacy of his nation in the air, a mammoth fleet of the type of the Junkers G 38, floating in the background. Germany's rivals fear that these ships, ostensibly built for commercial use only, can be converted quickly into bombers, forming a powerful air force.

exclude bombers. He would accept 50 per cent of the military aircraft possessed by France, or 30 per cent of the combined strength of her neighbours, whichever proved the smaller.

At the end of 10 years he demands equality with his principal neighbours.

Germans believe France faces a bad situation at home, economically and politically, and a division among her friends and allies abroad. They do not think she would dare risk another German occupation at this time. And, given another year or so, Germany would be too strong.

Certain British officials are openly critical of the French position. Belgian Premier Count de Broqueville has publicly stated that "the lesson of history and reality" is that no great nation can be kept indefinitely disarmed.

PLANES IN FLEETS.

Berlin has become the mecca of American aviation experts and salesmen. A single United States concern placed an order here for equipment for 2,000 planes. And it was a rush order, cash on delivery.

I was sitting at a table having supper in the Adlon Bar. A group of half a dozen Germans and an American entered.

"Champagne cocktails all round, Fred," the American said to the bartender. "We want to celebrate. This is no ordinary occasion and carrying from 10 to 12 passengers at nearly 200 miles an hour, weren't potential bombers.

"Oh, heavens, no!" he exclaimed. But slowly he turned his head in my direction and solemnly closed one eye.

The nightmare which every nation of Europe has been having for the last decade—a sky black with planes bearing death and destruction in the shape of lethal gases and high explosives—now seems about to come true.

POWERFUL ARMY.

Informed persons in Germany no longer deny that, with the Reichswehr and its reserves, the Nazi Brown Shirts, Steel Helmets, and other organizations of a military order, Germany now possesses an army which needs only arms to make it the equal of any in Europe. And the arms are on the way.

Within six weeks of mobilization, I am reliably informed, Germany could put 1,250,000 efficient troops in the field. And 4,000,000 modern rifles are ready for distribution inside German frontiers or in safe hands not far outside.

Similarly, thousands of machine guns, heavy and light, are said to exist in a knocked-down state, better to conceal them.

RACES AGAINST TIME.

"Germany," an old-timer told me, "is tenser than I have known her to be in years. She seems in a fever of apprehension lest something happen before she gets ready. She seems to be working against a sort of deadline."

I repeated this remark, later on, to a German.

"That," he replied, "is exactly the situation. Germany fears for what may happen within and for what may happen without. She is trying to set her house in order while yet there is time."

your best is none too good."

The American had just signed an important airplane contract with the Nazi government or its agents.

Germany may not be able to meet interest payments on $800,000,000 worth of obligations held in the United States, but she can find the necessary foreign exchange to pay for something she wants.

AIR SUPREMACY.

Outside Berlin I saw a civilian flying field. Dozens of planes circled overhead. Others were landing. Some were poised for the takeoff.

"Student pilots," a German companion explained. Scores of youngsters were awaiting their turn for a practice flight.

Many officers have quit the army to take up "commercial" or "sport" flying. There are airfields all over the country devoted to civilian aviation, all strictly under General Goering, now national aviation czar.

Even the schoolboy's glider is under his orders.

Forbidden military planes by the Treaty of Versailles, Germany is now definitely out to make herself as nearly supreme in the air as she can. Only she will call it by another name.

AVIATION RACE.

Frightened by what Germany is doing, France, Britain, Italy, Holland, Belgium, Poland, Russia, and other European powers are speeding up their own production and buying from abroad.

A race for supremacy has begun, and the United States is profiting by this not altogether reassuring windfall. Its 180 and 190 miles an hour commercial planes are everywhere in demand.

I asked an American airman here if these fast ships, capable of

REDS IN H.K.

ICE ACTIVITY KEEPS COMMUNISTS IN CHECK

Communism, as a result of Police action, has been reduced to a state of inactivity in Hongkong, according to an annual report of the Inspector of Police for 1933.

During the latter part of 1932, the Communist Party was rendered inactive. However, in the early part of the year, an effort was made to reorganise the Party but this attempt failed owing to the arrest of certain members of the Party.

The remainder of the year was marked by indications of any revival of communist activity on a large scale in the Colony, although the communists were made to time.

On occasion inflammatory speeches were distributed in an ice-centre, but there were no demonstrations, and no serious labour troubles due to communist agitation occurred.

DR. MORRISON

CENTENARY CELEBRATIONS NEXT WEEK

A meeting of the Executive Body of the Morrison Centenary Celebration Committee was held in the Cathedral Hall on Thursday, Hon. Sir William Shenton being in the chair.

The Rev. H. W. Baines, representing the Dean, said that the religious Sub-Committee had arranged for a united service of all the Protestant Churches in the Colony to be held at 6 p.m. on Sunday, August 5, at the Volunteer Headquarters. There is to be a massed choir, and the band of the South Wales Borderers will provide the hymn accompaniment. Should the weather be unfavourable the service will be held in the Cathedral.

The addresses will be given by the Bishop and by the Rev. Wong O-tong, and in order to insure that the congregation will hear clearly, amplifiers will be installed at various points on the ground.

On August 1 the Bishop accompanied, it is hoped, by a considerable number of others from Hongkong, will proceed to Macao, where he will be joined by the Convivial General of Canton, Mr. H. Phillips.

Wreaths from various representative bodies will be deposited on Morrison's grave, after the Bishop has conducted a memorial service in the chapel, which has recently been put into use under the direction of Mr. Gellion of Macao.

For the convenience of Hongkong residents, the Steamboat Company has kindly arranged that the Chuen Chow, which leaves Hongkong at 8 a.m. for Macao, will make the return journey at 4 p.m. from Macao instead of 3 p.m., the usual time.

Rotary Address.

Prof. L. Forster presented the report of the Education sub-Committee, which had undertaken to be responsible for certain aspects of the Celebrations. He said that arrangements had been made for the Rev. E. L. Allen to address the Rotary Club on July 31 the subject being "Dr. Morrison." This address should be broadcast and published in the ordinary way. On August 1 at 9.15 p.m. Dr. Allen would again broadcast an address on some phases of Dr. Morrison's life and what we owe to him.

Commencing on Tuesday, July 31, a display of books used and produced by Dr. Morrison would be shown in the shop window of Kelly & Walsh, Chater Road. A more detailed account of these exhibits will be given later.

It is proposed to hold an essay competition in the schools in October, when prizes will be offered for the best essays on the subject of Dr. Morrison's life. The subject will naturally be on some aspect of Dr. Morrison's life, which the candidate will be expected to study beforehand. The prizes will be awarded at a special meeting of the schools interested, in a suitable centre, when an address will be given on Dr. Morrison's life and his work in China, and a tableau or dramatized episode from Morrison's life will be performed by pupils from the schools.

Mr. P. Pearce, Chairman of the Finance sub-Committee, stated that an appeal would be launched in order to get money to help in the rebuilding of the Netherlands Hospital. Dr. Morrison had taken a short medical course in London before coming East in order to fit himself more effectively for his work in China, and he had also established a clinic in Macao. On the nature of the response to the appeal, would depend the character of the memorial that would mark the Centenary of his death.

The fund would be kept open till the end of the year.

All these reports were received and the proposals put forward by the various sub-committees were adopted.

WATER LEVELS.

FOR WEST, NORTH AND EAST RIVERS

The River Conservancy Commission for Kwangtung Province notifies that the height of water in English feet in the West, North and East Rivers is as follows:

There will be a Dinner Dance at the Repulse Bay Hotel to-day and a Tea Dance to-morrow at 4.30 p.m. The Antedonians Band will be in attendance on both occasions.

DAY BY DAY NEWS IN BRIEF

JOY IS THE BEST OF WINE.—George Elliot.

It is notified that Dr. J. M. Gray resumed duty as Acting Medical Officer of Health on 16th July.

The Prison branch of the M. C. L. is holding a whist drive on Thursday next, at 3 p.m., at the Prison Officers' Mess.

Dr. E. L. Allen, M.A., Ph.D., will address Rotarians at their usual weekly tiffin at the Hongkong Hotel on Tuesday. The subject will be "Dr. Morrison."

It is notified that the name for the Hot Food Shipping Co., Ltd., has been struck off the Register.

Two cases of typhoid and one case of meningitis were reported to the local health authorities on Thursday.

The Government is inviting tenders for an addition to the garage for the Prison Department at Arbuthnot Road.

Members of the Craggengower Cricket Club are asked to note that the fortnightly whist drive will be held on August 4, and not to-day.

FORD V-8 TRUCK FOR 1934

FULL-FLOATING REAR AXLE

MANY OTHER NEW FEATURES

New Ford V-8 trucks and commercial cars, powered with the 80 horse power Ford V-8 engines, are now on display at the local Ford dealer's showrooms.

New full-floating rear axle, improvements in the special type V-8 truck engine and newly designed front end are among the features of the 1934 Ford V-8 truck. Rear springs are of the double-shockled semi-elliptic type. Every part is full truck size. A wide range of body types is provided to meet practically every variety of commercial hauling requirements.

The 80 horse power engine has heavy-duty bearing inserts, the new high lead bronze bearings as used in racing cars and airplanes, and inserts of a wear-resisting alloy steel are used in the exhaust valve seats.

New truck-type cylinder heads with newly-designed combustion chambers, combined with the new dual carburetion give more power with decreased compression. Water jackets, which extend to the bottom of the cylinders and along the crankcase walls, not only cool the engine but maintain proper oil temperature. The new heavy-duty crankshaft is of a cast alloy steel developed by Ford to withstand arduous service.

OTHER FEATURES.

Other features are a large size clutch and transmission and heavy driving gears, which together with the torque tube and radius drive permit utilization of the engine's full power without undue strain on the driving mechanism or chassis.

The transmission provides four speeds forward, which furnish the wide range of power required for all phases of truck operation.

Unusually large braking areas and specially designed drums of the mechanical braking system provide maximum braking safety.

Increased strength has been built into the entire rear and design of the full-floating rear axle. The axle housings now carry the full load, as well as all stresses and side thrusts, leaving the axle shafts free to perform their single primary function of driving the wheels. These shafts can be readily removed for servicing without out jacking up the truck.

DIG OUTPUT PER GALLON.

The sturdy pinion drive is straddle mounted and has wider and stronger teeth, as has also the ring gear. Both pinion shaft and bearings are positively lubricated.

The new Ford V-8 truck is compact and easily serviced. It is more economical in operation, delivering a greater power output per gallon of fuel than any other Ford engine ever built.

HOW HENRY COTTON THE MAGICIAN WON

put the whole issue out of doubt. At the long 13th Cotton played a memorable pitch and run, four feet past the pin, and holes his putt for four, and the crowd, for the first time for many agonising holes, let itself go with a roar that must have shaken the windows of the Prince's Clubhouse.

He reached the green at Suez, was seven feet short with his approach putt, but holed the next without a tremor and, in the twinkling of an iron in the sun, the whole situation was changed.

There was a grand second to the fifteenth, four feet from the flag, which earned him a 4. After a 3 at the 16th, a 4 at the 17th, and a final misadventure in a bunker to the right of the 18th green, came a real Cotton recovery four feet past the hole. He missed the return putt, but not a 5, and was immediately caught up by the swirling cheering crowd.

Brews, the likable South African, tore across the green to shake hands with his conqueror, and Cotton was carried off shoulder-high. Handshakers, back-thumpers, autograph hunters, photographers, all shoving, clapping and roaring! A Briton had won the championship for the first time since 1923, when Havers was successful. Cotton has had a week of records—his 79 to-day in the highest last round ever to win the title.

A bankruptcy notification states that a third and final dividend of 7.43 per cent, has been declared in the case of the Fook Lee firm, whilst in the case of the Fel Lun Steamship Co., Ltd., voluntary liquidation, a first dividend or return of capital at the rate of 50 per share has been declared.

YORKS & LANCS HARD ON HEELS

LEADERS ONLY DRAW

Lancashire are now seriously threatening Sussex for the leadership of the county cricket championship as a result of their victory yesterday at the expense of Gloucester, and the failure of Sussex against Kent, when they lost on first innings. Yorkshire too are back again in the running with another handsome win, this time against Worcester.

Once again, however, it was generally a case of uncompleted matches so far as the county fixtures were concerned. Four of the six matches were decided on first innings, the victims being Somerset, Surrey, Essex and Sussex.

MEMORABLE VICTORY.

The Gentlemen scored a memorable victory over the Players at Lord's when in the fourth innings they hit up a very quick 232 for Gentlemen (277 & 232-3) beat Players (263 & 245-5 dec.) by seven wickets.

DEMPSTER'S BIG HITTING

Flogs Australian Bowlers

London, July 27.
Fleetwood-Smith was again in big form with the ball for the Australians, when the visitors met Scotland in the first match of the Scottish tour at Edinburgh to-day. Capturing six wickets for 46 runs, he was responsible for the dismissal of Scotland for 107.

Nevertheless the feature of the innings was the magnificent batting of C. S. Dempster, the former New Zealand international cricketer, who hit up 69 of the total. He flogged the attack in masterly fashion, scoring his runs all round the wicket.

The Australians were not seriously troubled by the Scottish bowlers, and with Stanley McCabe batting confidently, the close of play found the visitors 144 for three. McCabe was still undefeated with 67 to his credit.—Reuter.

three to win by seven wickets. This followed a second innings declaration by the Players.

Lancashire made two declarations against Gloucester, and won comfortably. In the first innings they applied the closure at 324 for three, and after dismissing Gloucester for 184, again declared at 50 for no wicket. It was a bold policy, but it came off, thanks to Pollard who bowled brilliantly to take 6 for 21, and dismiss Gloucester a second time for 102.

Bowes, the bowler, and Hutton the batsman were the outstanding figures in Yorkshire match against Worcester. Hutton rattled up the highest score of the day (196) to contribute towards Yorkshire's 416, and it was Bowes who sent Worcester back for 113 in their second innings, by capturing 7 for 85. Worcester scored quite well in their first visit to the crease, totalling 322, but Yorkshire easily clinched the issue, scoring 88 without loss.

LANGRIDGE BROTHERS.

The Langridge brothers came to the rescue of Sussex when the leaders were in something of a plight at Maidstone. Kent led them by 157 on the first innings, aggregating 374 in response to the Sussex score 217.

But Kent's success stopped short at that point. Batting with

Successful C.R.C. Tennis Players

STRENGTH OF "B" DIV. TEAM

Below will be found the detailed scores of the C.R.C. v. Revere match played on Thursday, the result of which gave the Chinese Recreation Club the "B" Division championship of the lawn tennis league.

Once again Lau Fuk-ki had to partner up with another player, but they won all three sets.

The records show that M. K. Lau and P. F. Choy went through the season without conceding a single set. Of the 18 sets played, they won every one.

Lau Fuk-ki also had a successful season, although playing with four different partners. He finally totalled 17 wins, three losses and one draw out of 21 sets. The second pair, Y. W. Li and C. Y. Tso played 21 sets, of which 16 were won, three lost and two drawn.

THE SCORES.

The full scores of the Revere match were:

K. K. Ip and F. K. Lau (C.R.C.) beat J. J. Remedios and L. Silva 6-2; beat A. A. Remedios and W. A. Reed 6-4; beat H. A. Ribeiro and A. Silva 6-2.

Y. W. Li and C. Y. Tso (C.R.C.) lost to Remedios and Silva 3-6; lost to Remedios and Reed 0-6; beat Ribeiro and Silva 6-1.

M. K. Lau and P. F. Choy (C.R.C.) beat Remedios and Silva 6-4; beat Remedios and Reed 6-2; beat Ribeiro and Silva 6-2.

rare skill in the second innings, John and James Langridge made it possible for Sussex to declare at 462 for 7. John Langridge scored 159 and his brother 130. Kent had no chance for an outright win, and played out time hitting up 98 for two.

Hampshire had the better of a drawn game with Somerset, as did Northants against Essex, but Derbyshire were unlucky not to take maximum points from Surrey, whom they dismissed for scores of 275 and 176, and replying with 293 and 76 for one.

The scores, together with the leading performances of individual players, were cabled by Reuter.

Henry Cotton receiving the cup for the British Open Championship from Hon. Michael Scott, Captain of the Royal St. George's.

HOW HENRY COTTON THE MAGICIAN WON BRITISH GOLF "OPEN"

WILD SCENES OF ENTHUSIASM GREET PERFORMANCE

ENGLISHMAN'S EVERY SHOT CHEERED

Below is a graphic description by "Vagrant" of the London Morning Post, of how Henry Cotton, an Englishman, last month won the British Open Golf Championship over the Sandwich course, by means of record-breaking golf. A huge crowd went wild with enthusiasm when Cotton ended the last round with a clear margin of strokes over all opponents.

Sandwich, June 29.
Henry Cotton, professional to the Waterloo Club, Belgium, won the British Open Championship here to-day with an aggregate of 283. His rounds were 67, 65, 72 and 79. His aggregate ties with the record established by Gene Sarazen, of U.S.A., at Prince's Club, Sandwich, in 1932.

A stiff north-east wind made it clear very early that there would be no record-breaking to-day, and the long 5th, 7th, and 13th holes were all good value for 5 apiece. Cotton started on his last round with ten clear strokes' lead from Joe Kirkwood, U.S.A., and twelve from A. H. Padgham. He was accompanied by a crowd some thousands strong, all in high fettle, ready to applaud every stroke and cheer the winner home. Cotton looked strained and ill and was, in fact, suffering from severe nervous indigestion. He was pestered by C. A. Whitcombe, who, with a round of 78, finished with an aggregate of 295.

THE FIRST ROAR.

The first real roar of applause came at the first hole, where Cotton, after pushing his second shot out, holed a six-foot putt. He was in the rough from the tee at the second, but holed a long and difficult putt for 4, and a perfect little run-up earned him a good 3 at the next. An approach putt for the sloping green went dead for four at the fourth, and everyone was expecting him to reel off the dazzling figures that had been his all the week. But no more were forthcoming. He struggled from tee to rough and from rough to green, leaving a trail of wondering gloom behind him. A hooked second at the fifth finished in wild broken country, and he finally missed from five feet and took 6.

"WRONG BALL" CRY.

He was just off the green at the short 6th, when busybodies shouted "Wrong ball!" as he was about to play his delicate little approach, and he missed the eminently holeable return putt. Another pulled second led to a 6 at the 7th, but he got his 3 at the next from over the back of the green. He finished this troubled passage, with a drive pulled amongst sandhills, a second deep in trouble and the third right over the green and through the spectators. Then he pitched up dead and got a five for 40 out.

It was a very solemn, anxious crowd that followed him now. They asked each other in a whisper how many strokes Kirkwood, Padgham and Brews were behind; the while doing frenzied mental arithmetic and showing each other, with folded umbrellas, what Cotton was doing wrong. When he started home with three fives, there was much of the tragic atmosphere of that famous picture "The Retreat from Moscow" about the dejected multitude. He pulled his drive to the 10th; he was short all the way to the eleventh and, missing the green at the 12th with his second, took three more to get down. Then the news went through the

TO-DAY'S DAVIS CUP MATCH

ENGLAND START FAVOURITES

The accommodation at the Wimbledon centre court will not be sufficient to-day to house all the tennis enthusiasts who will be making tracks for headquarters to witness the opening matches of the Davis Cup challenge round tie between Britain and the United States.

The event heralds the drawing to a close of a brilliant season of sport in which England has so far figured prominently and honourably.

So far as tennis is concerned it only needs the retention of the Davis Cup to set seal upon the most successful summer of any post-war year enjoyed by English players. The English representatives, Fred Perry and "Bunny" Austin will not take the court suffering any inferiority complex. They have proved themselves worthy winners of the international trophy against all comers, and their more recent performances at Wimbledon indicate that they are playing just as well now as when they won the cup last year.

THE DOUBLES PROBLEM.

If England is to win, it is pretty certain to be by three singles. The odds are in favour of them accomplishing this. Unhappily the team cannot look forward with much confidence towards the doubles, and as this is the tie which can so easily turn imminent defeat into victory (as witness the Inter-Zone final and the United States).

In this connection the selectors might do much worse than experiment. They have before them a recent performance by I. G. Collins and F. H. D. Wilde which puts them almost in direct line for the Davis Cup doubles.

Those two, the former an old Davis Cup player, who with Dr. J. C. Gregory never lost a tie in international tennis, advanced to the semi-final of the Wimbledon doubles this year, being the only English pair to reach this stage. In the quarter-finals they overcame the strong Kirby-Miki combination in straight sets, and in the next stage fell fighting to Borotra and Brugnon, the holders, in four sets.

The very boldness of the experiment might succeed, where the adoption of more cautious tactics would fall over such a move, and it would mean that Perry could be wholly reserved for his important singles matches.

ANOTHER SUGGESTION.

After Austin's fine play with C. E. Hare in the French Championships a few weeks ago, a London critic suggested that Austin and Perry would make an ideal Davis Cup doubles combination, but that, of course, is asking too much of either of them. For two players to be called upon to see through the whole of a Davis Cup challenge round, is out of the question.

But it is a disturbing thought that without the assistance of Perry, England has not a double pair she can call upon likely to beat Lott and Stofeen.

The position constitutes a delicate little problem, but happily England has the sage counsel and advice of a veteran tactician, Mr. H. Roper-Barrett, who as non-playing captain, will be at the helm.

New York Giants Take Points From Phillies

New York, July 27.
Rain ruined Major League baseball to-day. Only two matches in the leagues were finished. The Giants captured points from Philadelphia Phillies, and a fine piece of pitching by Bill Swift saw the Cardinals blanked out by Pittsburgh Pirates, who replied with four runs.

The whole of the American League programme was washed out.

INTERPORT LAWN BOWLS MATTERS

SELECTION OF NON-PLAYING CAPTAIN

CLUBS TO NOMINATE PLAYERS AS IN THE PAST

At a meeting of the Council of the Lawn Bowls Association held yesterday, Mr. B. E. Maughan was selected to travel with the Interport lawn bowls team to Shanghai this year to act as non-playing manager.

Interport arrangements were discussed in the course of which Mr. Maughan, who presided, said he thought the old system of obtaining nominations from clubs for the Interport team should be followed. He added that a Selection Committee could then be appointed or the meeting could leave the selection of the team in the hands of the sub-committee which has been conducting the annual tournaments.

Mr. B. Wylie (Kowloon Bowling Green Club) thought it was inevitable that clubs be canvassed for nominations. He would put forward the suggestion as a proposition and he further proposed that the selection of the team be left in the hands of the present sub-committee. The proposition was put to the meeting and carried.

The chairman mentioned that there was one point in connection with the Interport. He commented upon the advantage of selecting a non-playing captain or manager to accompany the team as it would relieve the playing captain of the responsibility of final selections.

Mr. Wylie said it was an admirable idea and it would save a lot of heart burning.

Mr. F. J. Jones (Civil Service C.C.) mentioned to the meeting that he understood Mr. Maughan, the chairman, had contemplated making the trip to Shanghai.

Mr. Maughan: I am certainly hoping to go.

Mr. Wylie: That being so I move that you be manager of the team.

The motion was put to the meeting and carried unanimously.

DONATION TO CHARITY.

Mr. Maughan thanked the meeting for the appointment and said that if it is possible for him to make the journey he hoped he would bring the Cup back with him.

It was proposed, continued the chairman, that the team leave on August 20 by a President boat and return towards the middle of September, leaving Shanghai by an Empress boat on September 12.

He thought it advisable to curtail players' absence as much as possible as some players may not be able to stay away too long.

Before closing the meeting the chairman commented upon the admirable work which was being done by the Children's Playgrounds Association and suggested that the Hongkong Lawn Bowls Association make a small donation to their funds of say $50. He said it was a deserving body and he thought it would be a nice gesture to make a small donation.

Hongkong Lawn Bowls Association was in a strong financial position and their funds were in exceedingly good hands. As members knew the Playgrounds Association was carrying out exceedingly good work. When one saw thousands and thousands of kiddies on the little open spaces it made one wonder if one could do anything in that direction.

Mr. Wylie supported the suggestion and mentioned that for the last two years the Kowloon Bowling Green had been making a donation of $50 to the funds.

The chairman said he knew that some clubs were anxious but it was not general and he thought that, coming from the association, it would be a nice gesture to make a small donation.

The meeting agreed to the proposition and voted $50 towards the funds of the Playgrounds Association.

The sub-committee authorised to select the Interport team at a meeting held subsequently decided that nominations of players should close on the morning of Friday, August 10.

LONDON TAILORING CRAFTSMEN—

—ARE WAITING to receive your order for your lounge suit, plus-four suit, dress suit or overcoat.

These craftsmen are highly skilled, and they know the work and materials a good suit requires. These men are proud of their productions, and that is why the London-made suit has no counterpart throughout the world.

It is necessary for us to work with charts, as well as measurements, and this point ensures complete satisfaction.

Courtline Linings, Sydda Interlinings, hand-sewing wherever possible, and hand-sewn edges—all correctly used—lend those subtle touches which distinguishes the London-made suit from all others.

For weeks now, we have been accepting orders on the recommendations of last season's successes.

Announcing

NEW FORD V-8 TRUCK

with newly-designed FULL FLOATING REAR AXLE and straddle-mounted pinion

The Ford Motor Company announces a NEW FORD V-8 TRUCK—unequaled in ruggedness, performance and low cost per ton-mile. This New Ford V-8 Truck has been designed as a truck and built as a truck—with reserve strength and power to handle the toughest jobs. Every part is full truck size, made to deliver the utmost in operating efficiency and to stand up under maximum punishment. It is the truck you need to cut costs and increase profits.

NEW FEATURES

- NEW Full Floating Rear Axle, with straddle-mounted driving pinion and large double wheel bearings
- NEW Design Heavily Ribbed Axle Housing. Larger Spring Seats
- NEW Heavy-duty Bronze Connecting-rod Bearings
- NEW Truck-type Cylinder Heads, with newly designed combustion chambers.
- NEW Dual Carburetion, more miles per gallon
- NEW Design Pistons insure low oil consumption

New Full Floating Rear Axle

Ford full floating rear axle design means that the full weight of the truck and load is carried on the axle housing and the axle shafts are left free to transmit the driving forces from the engine to the wheels. Greatly increased strength throughout entire design. Specially heat-treated axle shafts. The sturdy driving pinion is straddle-mounted. Large pinion shaft and pinion bearings. Positive lubrication. Larger thrust plate. Wider, stronger teeth on driving pinion and ring gear. Differential gear bearings are spaced to equalize bearing pressure. Heavier rigid axle housing and more rigid differential housing, with additional strengthening ribs. Axle shafts can be removed at any time without jacking-up the wheels.

NEW Designed Front End, a distinctive appearance

NEW Stronger Wheels, with 5-inch and 6-inch rims, interchangeable with duals

Along with these outstanding new features, the New Ford V-8 Truck gives you the proved performance and reliability of the rugged V-8 cylinder engine—the most efficient engine ever built into a truck—torque-tube drive, heavy-duty clutch, trouble-free transmission, strong, sturdy high-carbon steel frame, heavy carbon chrome "I" beam front axle and the exclusive Ford transverse springs that give greater safety and better traction on all roads.

Inspect this New Ford V-8 Truck, the greatest truck value ever offered. Built on 131½-inch and 157-inch wheelbase, with a body type for practically every hauling need.

NEW BRONZE CONNECTING-ROD BEARINGS

The New Ford V-8 Truck has the latest and most expensive type of high-load bronze connecting-rod bearings. They are used in racing cars and airplane engines that operate under the most trying conditions.

CONDUCTOR DISMISSED

"You have got to show that the defendant had uttered that forged ticket. The woman passenger who had the ticket might have brought it on the bus with her," remarked Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday afternoon, in dismissing the charge against a motor bus conductor of uttering a forged Kowloon Motor Bus Company's ten cent ticket.

Mr. W. M. Brown appeared for the prosecution on behalf of the Kowloon Motor Bus Company, while Mr. M. A. da Silva represented the defendant.

At the commencement of yesterday's hearing, Fung Lim, manager of the Wah Nam Printing Works, gave expert evidence regarding the tickets produced in Court and pointed out one ticket as being a forgery as it was badly printed, the "U" having been misread in "Kowloon City." Witness declared that when the tickets were made by his firm, he had never seen a badly printed one.

Mr. William Louey, the manager of the Kowloon Motor Bus Company, said that when defendant had been brought to the office, he had admitted selling the ticket, but had not known it was a forgery. Between the time defendant came off duty and arrived at the office, he had had a chance of hiding any other tickets. He voluntarily submitted to a search.

Woman Had Ticket.

A ticket inspector then gave evidence of having boarded Bus 656 at 2.59 p.m. on June 22. A woman in the second class produced a ticket, which was printed differently from the other tickets. When she left the bus, she threw the ticket on the floor. At the terminus, the inspector picked up the ticket and returned it to the Motor Bus office.

Witness could not give actual evidence of having seen defendant selling the ticket to the woman passenger. He had only found the ticket on the floor.

Mr. Brown argued that as the woman had been in possession of the ticket, it could be presumed that the ticket had been given to her by defendant.

Mr. Wynne-Jones said that the woman might have brought the ticket onto the bus and that it was up to the prosecution to prove that the defendant had uttered the ticket.

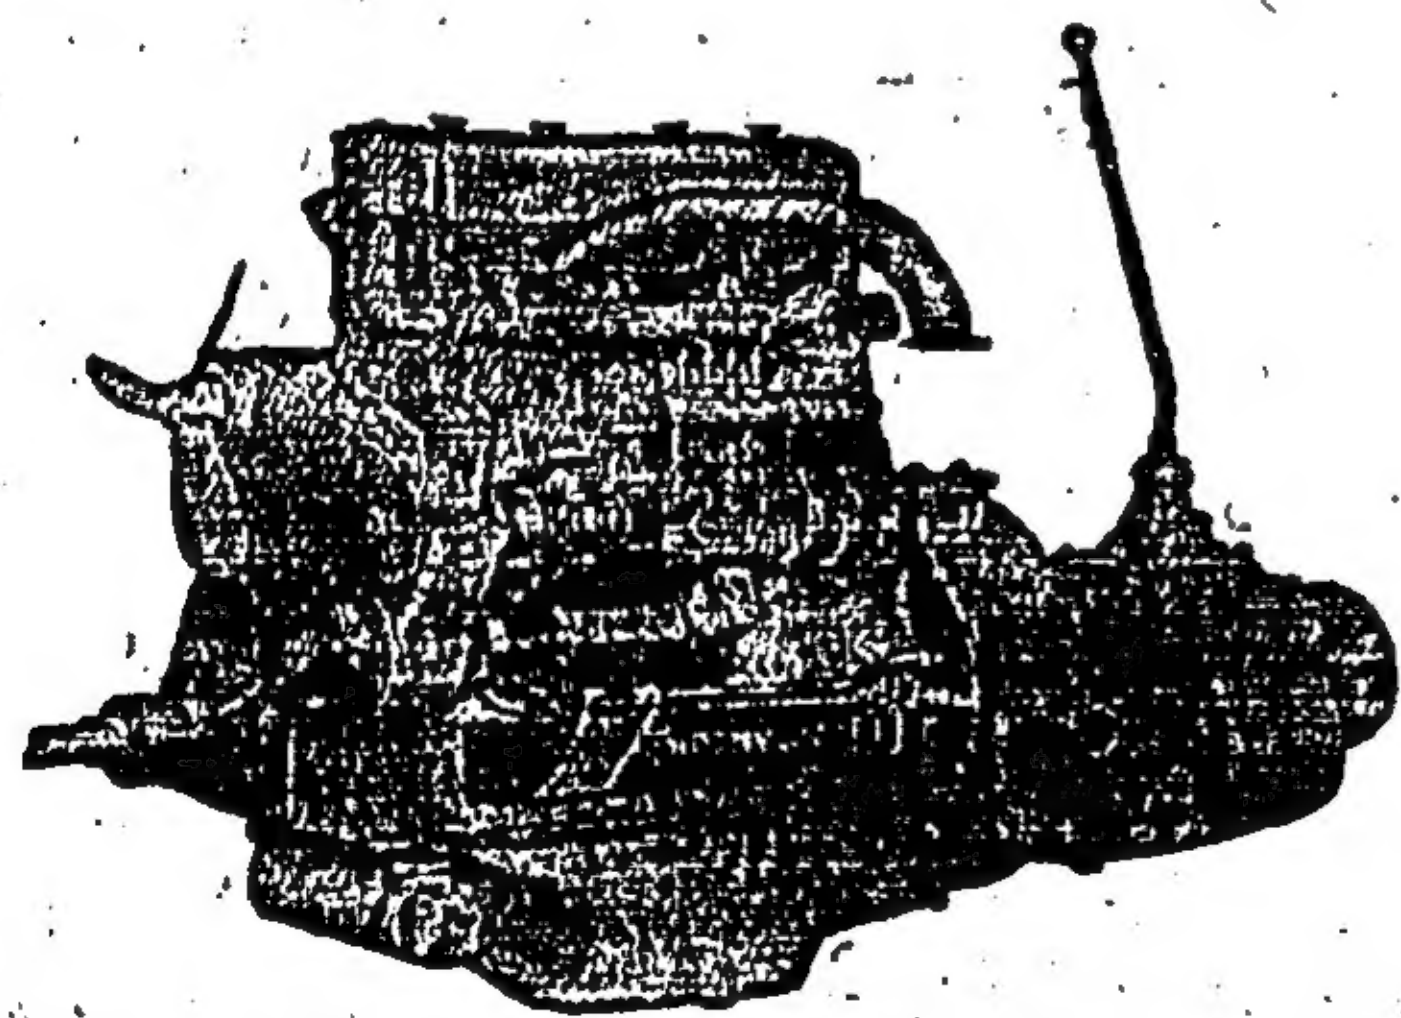

As Mr. Brown did not know the woman's name or address, he could not bring her into Court to give evidence and the case was dismissed.

The TIME
TEST and*'ASPRO'

THE old idea that a dozen medicines were needed for a dozen complaints—that laying up for indefinite periods was necessary—that it was also necessary to take dangerous drugs and narcotics—was an illusion. 'ASPRO' has dispelled it. For it is the medicine that takes the place of a dozen medicines, because, after ingestion in the system, it is an internal antiseptic—an anti-pyretic or fever reducer—an anti-periodic—a powerful germicide, and a solvent of Uric Acid, and, therefore, banishes the causes of numerous complaints. That's why 'ASPRO' banishes headaches in five minutes. It's the time test for quick action, and it stands the test of time. 'ASPRO' soothes the irritable—brings sweet sleep to the sleepless—relieves rheumatism in one night—smashes colds and influenza at inception. Furthermore, 'ASPRO' does not harm the heart or the stomach. It can be taken by all, from child to parent, anywhere, any time. The price is within the reach of all.

Dear Sirs, I have great pleasure to pen these lines of appreciation for the wonderful benefit I have derived through taking your 'ASPRO' Tablets. I have been for some time a sufferer from NEURALGIA and RHEUMATISM, and have tried various remedies, but without any beneficial results. I was advised by a friend to try 'ASPRO', which advice I took, with remarkable results. After taking six tablets, my Neuralgia disappeared. I continued taking two after every meal, and can now thankfully say that I am free from any pain, either Rheumatic or Neuralgic. You will, therefore, quite understand the pleasure I derive in recommending such a wonderfully simple medicine to other sufferers.

Yours faithfully,

Solution to Previous Contract Problem.

To open with one no trump on a weak hand at contract gives your partner no information. He may not wish to bid, yet he is forced to reply with two of something. If he does not hold much and cannot depend on you for much, and if he does step out for a two bid, the opponents will murder him for about 1400 points.

Therefore, the better contract players of to-day have adopted Sims' ideas of original no trump bidding—making them only with hands rich in tence positions, with no singletons or weak doubletons—hands that contain at least 3½ primary tricks and that may gain a trick on the opening lead.

North's bid of two clubs can be made on weakness or strength. However, it is forcing, after an original bid of one no trump, and does guarantee a five-card suit. After South's bid of two no trump, if North bid three clubs, it would be a sign-off.

The Play

The four of hearts is opened by West. East goes in with the king and the declarer wins with the ace. There is no use trying to start the spade suit, because only three tricks can be developed in that suit. Why not start the suit in which four tricks may be developed?

The opponent whom you do not want in the lead is East; therefore, you should play the hand in such manner that East has the least possible chance to get in. That is, play your jack of clubs.

The only card East may be able to get in with now is the queen of clubs, and of course, if this card is held by West, you have the chance that West may not cover, in which case you will make five club tricks. That is what happened in this hand—West fails to cover with the queen and the jack holds. Now the declarer runs off four club tricks and West has to surrender a spade and a heart to protect his hand.

Declarer then leads the ten of diamonds from dummy, and West wins with the king. If West returns a diamond, South will get two diamond tricks on which West will have to let go another heart. Next the declarer will cash the queen of hearts and throw West in with the jack, forcing him to lead from his king and eight of spades into the ace and queen. In this way, the declarer makes five odd.

Today's Contract Problem

West is playing the contract at four spades. South has bid diamonds. North opens the four of diamonds, South winning with the ace. He then plays the ace and king of hearts. How should West play the hand from here?

CHANGE IN JURY LAW

THE SERVICE OF SUMMONSES

The Gazette contains the draft of an Ordinance to amend the Jury Ordinance, 1887, by which sections 13 and 14 of the principal Ordinance are repealed and re-enacted with modifications.

Section 13 permitted the Registrar of the Supreme Court, in forming any jury panel, to pass over the names of persons drawn who could not be served with summonses by reason of death or absence from the Colony. The substituted section 13 permits him in forming a panel under section 9 of the Coroners Abolition Ordinance, 1888, to pass over also the names of persons drawn who in his opinion cannot conveniently be served in sufficient time to secure their attendance as jurors. Death inquiries under section 8 of the latter Ordinance have to be held at very short notice.

Section 14 of the Jury Ordinance, 1887, required that jurors' summonses should be either served personally or left at the usual place of abode of the persons drawn two clear days before the day appointed for the sitting of the court.

SERVICE DIFFICULTIES.

The provision requiring two clear days notice is impracticable in cases under section 8 of the Coroners Abolition Ordinance, 1888, and unnecessary where personal service is effected. Moreover with the expansion of residential districts on both sides of the harbour it has become increasingly difficult to effect service at the residential addresses of the persons drawn. For many years it has been the practice to serve the summonses by leaving at the jurors' places of business instead of at their residences.

The substituted section 14 requires two days notice only in those cases where personal service is not effected and regularises the practice of leaving the summonses at the places of business of the jurors concerned.

Section 3 amends section 23 of the Jury Ordinance, 1887, by RUSHCLIFFE HELD.

CONSERVATIVES' GRIP MUCH LOOSENER

London, July 27. In the Rushcliffe by-election the Conservative candidate retained the seat, but a very much shrunken majority.

The by-election was made necessary by the resignation of Sir H. B. Betterton, until recently the Minister of Labour, who now is chairman of the Unemployment Assistance Board.

The results are as follows:
Mr. Ralph Ascheton (Cons.) 19,374
Mr. Cadogan (Lab.) 15,081
Mr. Marwood (Lib.) 5,261
The previous election resulted as follows:
Sir Henry Betterton (Cons.) 36,070
Mrs. F. B. Paton (Lab.) 14,176

JAPANESE MANOEUVRES IN TIENTSIN STREETS

Tientsin, July 27. The densely populated Japanese area was the scene of lively street fighting to-day, when most of the Japanese garrison participated in sham battles lasting for several hours.

Vehicular traffic was stopped but pedestrians were permitted to watch the proceedings from the sidewalks.

Operations took place in four different districts, each lasting one hour. —Reuter.

allowing the clerk of the court to act as the officer of the court who takes and records verdicts. It is impracticable for the Registrar to be present in court on all occasions when verdicts are given, and the amendment regularises a practice which has prevailed for many years.

AGRICULTURAL CREDITS

New Scheme By Chinese Post Office

Nanking, July 28. The Chinese Postal Administration is embarking on a new enterprise with the object of extending credit facilities to Chinese farmers at low rates of interest.

The Ministry of Communications has authorised the appropriation of $1,500,000 from the Postal Savings and Remittances Bureau to establish Agricultural Credits and Mortgages Departments to be attached to postal offices in Kiangsu and Chekiang. If the enterprise is successful it will be introduced in other provinces. —Central News.
